Aim

To expose participants to a range of learner centred assessment theories, principles and practices which enable participants to design or select, and implement appropriate assessment tools.

Learning Outcomes

At the successful completion of this course, participants will be able to:

1. define and discuss assessment terminology and critically review own existing assessment and evaluation practices against current theories, principles and practices and demonstrate how these understandings inform practices;
2. recognise, analyse and design a range of assessment tools and tasks which are valid, reliable, fair, useable and integrated, to support learning and be inclusive of student needs;
3. explore and consider a range of culturally diverse assessments which includes alternative ways of assessing and supports the transfer of knowledge from one culture to another;
4. construct and justify clear and specific assessment/marking criteria to support student learning;
5. explore pre and post assessment moderation to provide a base from which to critique the role and impact of assessment and evaluation on student learning;
6. demonstrate understanding and critically examine assessment policy and practices considering their appropriateness for meeting student needs;

Assessment

There are three assessment tasks that must be presented for marking in this course.

NB: Work submitted later than the due date without an arranged extension will not receive feedback.

If planning to graduate this year - all assessed work must be in for marking by November 5th.

To pass this course:

Participants must undertake and successfully complete the 3 assessments.

- 1. Evaluation of own course assessment (written submission) - 30 August 2010
Evaluating the assessment in a course you are teaching/facilitating or undertaking
- 2. Assessment discussions (online discussion) - 24 September 2010
Participate in discussions online relating to assessment
- 3. New assessment strategy (written submission) - 1 November 2010
Presenting a new/revised strategy for a course you are teaching/facilitating or undertaking

Detail on all three assessments follows on the next page.

NB: As an alternative to the set assessment activities there is also the option to plan and develop your own individual assessment to meet the course learning outcomes. Discuss and negotiate this with the course facilitator. This plan must be finalised, agreed to, and signed by the participant and course coordinator by 20 August 2010.

ASSESSMENT

1. Evaluation of own course assessment (written submission)

Assessment:

Present in a written format of your choice* an evaluation of the current assessment practices for a course you are teaching/facilitating or undertaking.

This in-depth exploration should include consideration of:

- what assessments are being used
- the purpose of these assessments
- the relevance of the assessment tools and practices to student learning
- whether the assessment is fair, valid, reliable, usable and clear
- the relationship of the assessment to the learning outcomes for that course

*This written format could be any written format including a blog entry, a wiki, an essay/report/review, a PowerPoint presentation or any other written form.

Marking criteria

Achievement of the following criteria will result in a successful pass for this assessment:

- ✓ Evaluation of each aspect of the course assessment (the what, why and how)
- ✓ Discussion supported with rationale &/or literature &/or examples

The course outline and assessment information evaluated must be attached or the work will not be assessed
(Word count guide = 500 to 1000 words for the evaluation – excluding attached outline/assessment information)

- * Moderation
- * Cultural diversity
- * Feedback in assessment

Each must meet the following assessment criteria:

Marking Criteria:

Achievement of the following criteria will result in a successful pass for this assessment:

- ✓ Acknowledge relevance to your own teaching context
- ✓ Be supported with literature &/or examples

Due Date: all contributions to meet above criteria must be posted on the Blackboard discussion board by

Friday 24th September 2010

Everyone's postings open the potential for further discussion. I would encourage you to read and comment on other postings but this is not part of the assessment.

3. New assessment strategy (written submission)

Activity

Rewrite, modify or adapt the assessment strategy for the course you evaluated in assessment one or develop a new strategy for that course.

Assessment

Present the new or revised assessment strategy for the course you evaluated in assessment one as you would present this to students in a course outline/ information document.

In written form critically discuss your reasoning and rationale for this alternative approach and support this discussion with clearly referenced relevant literature.

NB: Critical discussion and reflection involve a depth of thought that considers a variety of perspectives including your own. Critical in this sense refers to reviewing or analysing in depth, it does not mean focusing on negativity.

Marking criteria

Achievement of the following criteria will result in a successful pass for this assessment:

- ✓ A copy of the course outline/information sheet with new/revised assessment information attached that is sufficiently clear to the learners
- ✓ A critical discussion of the rationale and reasoning for the strategy
 - ✓ Including acknowledgement of learner needs and consideration of diversity
- ✓ Discussion well supported with literature sources
 - Material well structured and presented with consistent referencing (preferably APA style)

(Word count guide for the critical discussion = 500 to 1000 words)

Due Date: submit by or before Monday 1st November 2010
