Review your wiki: Checklist

Does my wiki have:	Yes	No
A learning focus…?
A home page in which the learning purpose is evident.
Pages and activities that support the learning intention.
The wiki invites collaboration – the activities invite a shared approach, and allow students and community to edit and comment.
Clear rules and protocols that foster digital citizenship – rights and responsibilities.
Accessible layout and appearance…?
Succinct style, consistent font/headings and bold text to help skimming and scanning.
Accurate spelling, grammar and punctuation.
Images/widgets/media that relate to and support the learning.
Copyright: Content (text, images, media) that is owned by me / clearly sourced.
A helpful navigation menu for all key pages.
Brief paragraphs, with easy-to-skim pages that can be read without little/no scrolling.
Text, rather than tables (to make it easy for screen readers to read).
Self-evident hyperlink text – I know what I'm clicking on.
Links are listed/bulleted – not splattered all over the page.
Files are obvious (PDF/Word format is indicated).
