

CURRICULUM VITAE – DAVID LEEMING (APRIL 2010)

I am a British consultant and project manager based in Solomon Islands (Oceania) since 1995. My specialisation is in ICT for Development and ICT for Education, but I am a trained research scientist and all-round technologist. I have 15 years experience of International Development in the region (Solomons, PNG, Nauru, Tuvalu, Samoa) at all levels from community development through to advising governments and at a regional level. I have been a member of committees developing national policies (ICT, distance learning) and am a board member of the Pacific Islands Chapter of the Internet Society ISOC. I have a long working relationship with the regional organisations such as Secretariat for the Pacific Community and Pacific Islands Forum Secretariat, and wide experience in project management including a 3-year EUR 1m+ Distance Learning Centres project for EU and the regional One Laptop Per Child programme. I have consulted for UN organisations such as UNDP and ITU, Commonwealth of Learning and EU. I am an experienced trainer and workshop facilitator. I have specialised in ICT for Education, for instance community media and educational radio, open educational resources and capacity building for collaborative learning and content development, distance learning, and the OLPC programme which is an integrated, whole-of-sector approach to the introduction of ICT4E. I also own a Solomon Islands registered consulting company offering many modalities for business collaboration.

This mission involved teacher and community training, curriculum integration and content development, and development of the strategy for the country programme.  http://wiki.laptop.org/go/OLPC_Nauru
Jan 09 – Dec 09  (part time 40 days)	Solomon Islands	Linpico Ltd. EDF funded Solomon Islands Ministry of Education Peter Potter, Advisor Sector Coordination, coordinator@mehrd.gov.sb	TA	Provide follow-up TA to the DLCP project of the EU and NZAid funded Education Sector Investment and Reform Programme (I was Project Manager of this project 2004-2007, see below for details). This part time contract focuses on developing the main streaming of DFL within the education sector, strategic planning, and technical areas such as training in the introduction of Moodle and expanded VSAT networking with community access, and an evaluation of the OLPC trials ongoing. http://www.schoolnet.net.sb
June - Dec 2008	Regional Pacific Based in Solomons	Secretariat of the Pacific Community Ian Thomson, RICS and OLPC Coordinator, SPC iant@spc.int	Coordinator, One Laptop Per Child Regional Trials programme	Coordinate and implement strategies, and programmes of trials in all member countries for the One Laptop Per Child (OLPC) Oceania programme of SPC under the Pacific Digital Strategy. This involved liaison and coordination with Ministries of education, NGOs and other partners, in 8 countries initially participating in trials with others to follow. Implementing the initial trials in collaboration with all local and regional partners. I remain closely working with regional partners in the OLPC programme. http://wiki.laptop.org/go/OLPC_Oceania
Jan 2008 – June 2008 (short inputs)	Regional Solomons, PNG, Nauru, Samoa	Commonwealth of Learning Ian Pringle, Education Expert, Media ipringle@col.org	Consultant / workshop facilitator	Facilitating "Learning4Content" workshops on collaborative content development for educators, in Commonwealth countries of the Pacific Islands. The workshops train teachers and educators in collaborative resource development using the WikiEducator. The Solomon Islands workshop was the first of up to 100 such workshops worldwide, pioneering the programme for COL. I have also written the LAC Facilitator's Guide under a separate contract. http://wikieducator.org/Learning4Content
Nov07 - Sept 08	Solomon Islands	Secretariat of the Pacific Community  Ian Thomson, RICS Coordinator, SPC iant@spc.int	Consultant	(a) To establish a wireless educational network in Marovo Lagoon, Solomon Islands (b) To complete preparations for proposed regional trials of the "One Laptop Per Child" programme (c) To consult with communities in Marovo Lagoon in preparation for the planned pilots of SPC's Rural Internet Connectivity System (RICS). These inputs are related to the Pacific Forum's Digital Strategy, which aims to reach out to remote and rural communities. This work has been extended in 2008, with a further contract to implement wireless networking in central Marovo Lagoon and establish community-level partnerships focused on education and community access. The community access project is named the Marovo Learning Network. http://www.peoplefirst.net.sb/DLCP/Marovo.htm
Nov/ Dec 07	Solomon Islands	UNDP  Christine Carlson, DRR, Solomon Islands Office christina.carlson@undp.org	Consultant	Consulting and advice to Isabel Province Development Programme, Solomon Islands. Identification and recommendations on programming linkages for the Isabel Province e-Government and e-Governance system. Technical advice provided on the interconnection of rural networks, including People First Network (PFNet) email stations, community FM radio stations, distance learning centre and HF radio networks. Identification of e-government linkages by sector and e-governance linkages related to the Province's planning cycle, to enable increased participation and engagement of citizenry in the planning and development process. Output: report (available on request with permission of Honiara sub-office).

Dec 2004 – Dec 2007	Solomon Islands	EU long term international TA, Ministry of Education, Solomon Islands Peter Potter, Advisor Sector Coordination, Ministry of Education, Solomon Islands  coordinator@mehrd.gov.sb	Project Manager 3-years full Time	Manager of the Distance Learning Centres Project (DLCP) managing a team of 11 project staff and 6 staff of the People First Network (PFnet), with a total budget of SBD 11 million (EUR 1.1m) over 3 years. The DLCP is an EU-funded component of the Education Sector Investment and Reform Programme (ESIRP). The project has established a network of distance learning centres hosted by rural community high schools in each province and equipped with broadband Internet through a newly established VSAT network. The centres are run as multipurpose community telecentres, building on PFnet's sustainable rural networking experience, and are expected to have wide impacts in rural development. The project also worked closely with the Ministry to focus on the role that distance and flexible learning (DFL) can play across the full spectrum from literacy, vocational, continuing to academic education and training. I have advised also on vital issues of sustainability and policy development, working with a specially-created Technical Working Group on distance and flexible learning. As Project Manager, I worked with a small group of regional experts to develop proposals for a regional Trial of OLPC for Oceania, specifically linked to the DLCP. This brought OLPC to the region. The DLCP was featured at several International conferences including the Pacific Forum Education Minister's Meeting, held in Auckland in Nov 2007. The post required of me strong leadership and competence in project management, budgeting, reporting, technical leadership and advice, human resource development and training, community development and to work at all levels from the grassroots to senior government. http://www.schoolnet.net.sb
Oct 2000 – current	Solomon Islands	Long term, 2000-04 variously funded 2004-present voluntary Alan Agassi, Deputy Chairman, RDVA  higascoordinator@gmail.com	Technical Advisor to the People First Network (PFnet)	PFnet is now an internationally-recognized best practice ICT4D project. It was established under the UNDP's Solomon Islands Development Administration and Participatory Planning Programme (SIDAPP) in Solomon Islands in 2001. I have been Technical Advisor from the beginning, when the PFnet concept was formulated in Nov 2000. I took the project forward under the Rural Development Volunteers Association (RDVA), mobilizing donor funding and working with rural communities, developing linkages and building partnerships to secure a sustainable basis for PFnet. In my time as PFnet Technical Advisor the project has been nominated as a finalist in several international ICT4D competitions including the Stockholm Challenge, UNSECO Rural Communications Prize and the InfoDev ICT4D Stories Competition. I remain associated with PFNet on a voluntary basis, advising on strategy and providing technical advice and advocacy. The People First Network, or PFnet, is a rural connectivity project, which aims to promote and facilitate equitable and sustainable rural development and peace building by enabling better information sharing and knowledge building among and across communities forming the Solomon Islands. The project has established an email system (now with over 30 stations nationally) based on a robust, proven and sustainable technology that permits remote locations on islands across thousands of square kilometres to have access to Internet emails using a simple computer, short-wave radio, and solar power. In my role as Technical Advisor, I have also advised on rural communication strategies, and have contributed to the literature through research and participation in regional forums. For instance, in 2003 with technical assistance from UNDP, PFnet hosted a workshop on national ICT strategy building that has improved awareness, professional networks and coordination of ICT in development in the country. http://www.peoplefirst.net.sb
